Everyone on the Hooper farm knows Henry. He's the little grey field mouse who lives on the farm with his parents and his twin sister, Henrietta.

“Field mice are important,” says Mother mouse. “We help farmers by eating weeds and maybe a bug or two or three.”

“We are cute,” says Henry, “with small ears and long tails.”

“We are smart and funny,” boasts Henrietta who is a good-natured mouse.

“You may be cute and smart,” Mother mouse reminds them,
“but always run quickly and pull your tail in when you hide. It’s a beautiful day. Where do you want to play?”

“Outside,” says Henrietta, “and Henry can climb on the tire swing.”
