The Emperor of the Heavens Sees a Light on Planet Earth That Concerns Him

High in the mists of a galaxy strewn with stars and brilliant diamond nebulae, the Emperor of Heaven is charting the movements of the planets, when he observes an eerie beam of light that does not accord with his calculations of The Heavens. He calls for the Guardians of The Celestial Palace, saying: “My worthies, do you see that strange light? Find out for me whence it comes, because it disturbs my reason and peace of mind.”

This is the tale of a Monkey King named Sun, who discovers ancient writing behind a waterfall. He sets out on a tiny ocean tossed raft to find a teacher to explain writing to him. He returns home at last to teach his subjects.
