This book is dedicated to the students who came into my school libraries in Augusta County, VA and Staunton, VA. I wrote this funny fractured fairytale to teach critical thinking concerning things that seem too good to be true — LESSON: “Free cheese” might mean a mousetrap!

I want to acknowledge my college professor, Dr. Inez Ramsey, who was first to encourage me to write children’s books, my family and friends who read my many revisions, and teachers who invited me into their classrooms to share this story.

With your advice and support, this book became a reality that will delight readers, give parents ideas to involve their children such as the gestures and wolf sounds, and provide teachers with an abundance of creative SOL possibilities.

Above all, I thank God for His provision of “witty inventions” (Proverbs 8:12).

20 Hand Gestures

WOLF HUNT:

See how many hidden wolves you can find inside.

HAND TALK:

Try to make all 20 gestures as you read the story.

WOLF SOUNDS:

Growl the GRRRR's, howl the OOOO's and blow the HUFFFF's.
