

What happens when the bumblebees suddenly get sick and need help? Molly and the fairies devise a plan to save the bees. Join Molly and the fairies on their crusade to bring the bumblebees to safety, in this enchanted fairytale.

Fairy Slippers: Molly Saves the Bees

By Cara Peckham

Order the book from the publisher BookLocker.com

<https://www.booklocker.com/p/books/12789.html?s=pdf>

or from your favorite neighborhood
or online bookstore.

Fairy Slippers

Molly Saves the Bees

By Cara Peckham

Illustrated By Robert Meulemans

Copyright © 2023 Cara Peckham

ISBN: 978-1-958889-40-4

All rights reserved.

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, recording or otherwise, without the prior written permission of the author.

Published by BookLocker.com, Inc., Trenton, Georgia, USA.

The characters and events in this book are fictitious. Any similarity to real persons, living or dead, is coincidental and not intended by the author.

Library of Congress Cataloguing in Publication Data
Peckham, Cara

Fairy Slippers: Molly Saves the Bees by Cara Peckham
Library of Congress Control Number: 2023904287

Printed on acid-free paper.

BookLocker.com, Inc.

2023

First Edition

Bumblebees should not be able to fly, their wings are simply too small for their bodies, yet the bumblebee has no knowledge of this, therefore they fly regardless.

*For my five most precious gifts,
Sophia, Ricky, Arden, Everett, and Beckett
And for all my students, past and present,
anything is possible...
Never let limiting beliefs stop you from flying.*

It wasn't long before Molly's brother Sam was born. Molly seemed to have a lot more free time these days. She was eight now, and Sam was almost one year old. He was learning to walk, so Mom and Dad were very busy following him around the yard. Therefore, Molly spent most of her time outside playing alone.

Every Saturday, Molly's grandmother came over to help Mom and Dad with the yard work. Molly loved this day the most. Grandma didn't mind getting dirty. She and Molly put on their overalls and gardening shoes, sang songs, and talked about the things they saw around them in nature. Grandma loved the birds; she was great at recognizing each bird by its song.

Meanwhile, Molly was very interested in the insects she saw. Together, they collected different insects in Molly's magnifying bug jar, then Molly observed, drew them, and let them go. Each night before bed, Molly researched what she'd found using her insect field guide.

What happens when the bumblebees suddenly get sick and need help? Molly and the fairies devise a plan to save the bees. Join Molly and the fairies on their crusade to bring the bumblebees to safety, in this enchanted fairytale.

Fairy Slippers: Molly Saves the Bees
By Cara Peckham

Order the book from the publisher BookLocker.com

<https://www.booklocker.com/p/books/12789.html?s=pdf>

or from your favorite neighborhood
or online bookstore.