Introduction

This autobiography was written by God: fact or fiction? I will tell you God's story in His own words, based on insights that I believe that He has given me. God has not dictated it to me so it is not actually an autobiography. But He has inspired me to write this book and weave the insights and revelations He has given me into a continuum from the beginning of creation until today and beyond. These insights include new interpretations of the Bible that will strengthen your belief. Most interpretations today are built upon past interpretations but there is room for new insights. These insights amazingly come together to provide beautiful answers to many of the great questions that mankind has struggled with and tell a story that you will not hear in any church, synagogue, temple or mosque. Churches have trouble answering the question "Why do bad things happen to good people?" Scientists have worked for hundreds of years trying to discover the mysteries of life and the universe but they never ask or answer the questions of why the universe exists or why there is life and mankind. Researchers haven't been able to answer the questions of where cognition, depression, and dementia come from. This book will provide answers to these questions.

I was walking in a nearby graveyard the week after retiring from my job leading the Aerospace States Association contemplating what I should do next with my life. I started thinking about all the incredible experiences that I have had from being an Air Force pilot during the Vietnam War to working as the aviation advisor in the White House on 9/11, and how God has led me through His Spirit along the way. I thought of how He also led me to the Virginia Theological Seminary and to write four books describing my life and His insights. An outline of this book began to appear in my head of how I could begin discussing creation then integrate Biblical insights, multi-faith insights learned at the seminary, evolution, quantum and relativity theories leading to God's creation of Man and His involvement with Mankind. It struck me that doing that would actually describe God's autobiography with regard to this Universe, why Man exists, and Man's relationship with God. It would also answer questions such as why we were born, what happens when we die, why there is evil in the world, the value of all religions, and the big picture of God's involvement with the Universe.

In my other books, I have used quotes from the Bible and other texts to make and support my points. In this book I am simply telling the story from God's point of view. Some supporting documentation can be found in the end notes. I have used the New American Standard Bible throughout.

I know the risk involved in trying to speak for God so please see His dialogue in this book as a fictional way to tell God's story, not arrogance on my part. On the other hand, everyone who interprets the Bible or other religious documents is in some respect speaking for what they think God is saying, so what I am writing is in line with every other religious discussion.

Sit back, engage with this remarkable story. Open your mind to a big picture concept of what has really happened and is happening that is different from what the world believes today. Question your beliefs as you grow in knowledge and insights. Take your time reading this book; there is a lot for you to unpack and understand.

I pray that this book will inform you and reassure you. God will comfort you as you read this book.

Preface

I am writing this book to you my children so that you will know me before the final tribulations of the last days.

While you call me God, my name really is I AM and my title is The Almighty, The Beginning and The End, or The Alpha and Omega in Greek. I am also Jesus Christ and what you call the Holy Spirit, but let me explain. I am like a person, only a spiritual all-powerful person. You give these aspects of me different names, but they are all me. I am the spirit of consciousness and my spirit can see, hear, touch, speak, and act.

You can't imagine what it is like to be all powerful and always exist. I can do anything I want, but life seemed meaningless. I was lonely and unloved. I created angels to serve me, but that isn't love. Love is only real if it is freely given by a cognitive being that has a choice to love or not. I created Lucifer and gave him great power. Surely, he would be grateful and love me; but no. He became self-centered and wanted to rise above me.<sup>i</sup> Then it came to me that what I was missing was a family. I need a family I can love, nourish and grow. Not a created family, but a family that is comprised of independent spiritual beings that can love me or not. A loving family would be my objective!

The Apostle Paul described how much love means to me in 1 Corinthians Chapter 13 (NASB)<sup>ii</sup>:

1. If I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but do not have love, I have become a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal.

2. If I have the gift of prophecy, and know all mysteries and all knowledge; and if I have all faith, so as to remove mountains, but do not have love, I am nothing.
3. And if I give all my possessions to feed the poor, and if I surrender my body to be burned, but do not have love, it profits me nothing.
4. Love is patient, love is kind and is not jealous; love does not brag and is not arrogant,
5. does not act unbecomingly; it does not seek its own, is not provoked, does not take into account a wrong suffered,
6. does not rejoice in unrighteousness, but rejoices with the truth;
7. bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.
8. Love never fails; but if there are gifts of prophecy, they will be done away; if there are tongues, they will cease; if there is knowledge, it will be done away.
9. For we know in part and we prophesy in part;
10. but when the perfect comes, the partial will be done away.
11. When I was a child, I used to speak like a child, think like a child, reason like a child; when I became a man, I did away with childish things.
12. For now we see in a mirror dimly, but then face to face; now I know in part, but then I will know fully just as I also have been fully known.
13. But now faith, hope, love, abide these three; but the greatest of these is love.

Love is a dilemma. The problem with love is that it must be freely given and because I am a spirit, I yearn to be loved by another spirit. So how can I create another spirit to love me without knowing me and feel compelled to love me? If a person is made to love me then it is not love. What should I do? Another problem with love is that it must be mutual. It comes from doing things together and overcoming obstacles. Love requires faith, trust, and perseverance. Love results in joy, an emotion that I yearn to feel, but can only feel if it is in response to another. As I pondered these things an idea came to me. I can create a physical universe and use it to achieve my objective. A physical universe can provide the obstacles and foundation for the development of spiritual children to become my family. They could have a physical family on Earth as a parallel to the spiritual family I seek and then become my spiritual family.

In this regard, I want to clarify a misunderstanding that many have when reading the beginning in Genesis Chapter 1 verses 26-27.

26 Then God said, "Let Us make man in Our image, according to Our likeness; and let them rule over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the sky and over the cattle and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creeps on the earth."

27 God created man in His own image, in the image of God He created him; male and female He created them."

These verses are most important in your understanding of what I am doing by creating the universe. Note that the text says Let Us make man in Our image.... In the Image of God. What is my image? No living person has ever seen me. Most people interpret this verse to mean that I look like you; no, I don't. The truth is that I created mankind to have a human spirit that will look like me when you become my child. I am spirit and you will be like me, my spiritual child. Genesis Chapter 5 verses 1-3 notes the difference between my Image and mankind's.

1. In the day when God created man, He made him in the likeness of God.

2. He created them male and female, and He blessed them and named them Man in the day when they were created.
3. When Adam had lived one hundred and thirty years, he became the father of a son in his own likeness, according to his image, and named him Seth.

As you can see from these verses man is created in the likeness of God but children of Adam are created in the likeness of Adam. The first is speaking to a spiritual creation the second a product of physical reproduction. This is a major theme of this book.

The second thing people puzzle about is who I am referring to as US. By us I am referring to Jesus and the Holy Spirit and the angelic host. Lucifer was my first attempt at making a family for myself but he didn't love me. When I told him of my plan to create the universe and a spiritual family for myself I hoped he would collaborate with me but he became jealous and wanted the family for himself. That is when Lucifer turned into Satan and began his fight to win the spirit of mankind.

I am achieving my objective to create a true loving spiritual family for myself. I wrote this autobiography so you will know that you can be a member of my spiritual family if you love me.

Interpretations of both the Old and New Testaments in the Bible from ancient times to today have formed the basis of people's beliefs about me. In this book, I am augmenting these interpretations with new insights. I am presenting some new interpretations of the same Biblical words to open up new meaning for you as I just did above. Let me tell you my story so that you will know me well enough to love me and know that I love you.

Chapter 1: Creation of the Universe

BANG!! My idea sprang into action.

I began creating the universe in no time, because there was no time or space at the beginning. The universe began with a flash of light energy in the darkness of black nothingness. The most powerful energy is spiritual energy. Spiritual energy is infinitely powerful and is part of me. What you call the Big Bang was my spiritual energy being transformed into the energy of the universe. That energy expanded through inflation and then cooled to form the fundamental particles that later coalesced into the physical universe as Einstein and others discovered. Why is the speed of light a constant? Because it is the fundamental multiplier I chose to turn energy into mass in creating the universe. I am light.

If I am to create a universe that will result in my obtaining a loving family, that universe must follow dependable rules or laws so that it does not appear to be arbitrary. If arbitrary then the evolution of the universe would show that I was controlling things and ruin my plan. You can physically see my plan unfold as the order in the universe that naturally devolves into chaos, what the scientists call entropy. Mathematics shows you my thought process. The speed of light is only one of innumerable values that I used. I set forth the laws of the universe from the very beginning and restrict myself to obey them. The universe evolves on its own except for my interventions along the way to steer it towards the development of my objective.

Your physicists have done an excellent job of discovering many of my laws especially in the past 100 years. They have developed Quantum Mechanics, Special Relativity Theory<sup>iii</sup> and concepts of time and space. They are now beginning to uncover the fact that my spiritual “dark” energy is holding the universe together and that dark matter derived from it is keeping the universe on its evolutionary path.

From the fundamental particles, I watched as the universe expanded and cooled until hydrogen molecules began to form. Hydrogen has mass so it begins to warp time and space creating gravity. Gravity brought the hydrogen together and eventually it became so dense in spots that a nuclear reaction occurred forming the first stars. The first stars were very large and quickly burned through the hydrogen forming helium and other elements through nuclear fusion. Eventually these stars exploded spreading heavier elements throughout the universe becoming the building blocks of later planets, stars and galaxies. This took many cycles and billions of years, but it was incredible to watch. While the universe is a big place, I began to focus on the earth, a tiny planet in a nondescript galaxy but a perfect planet to create life. If I was to create a family of individuals I needed to pick a place to start. Earth is where I selected.

At this point you might be asking why I didn’t just create all of this in one step? The answer is that I want to be true to the laws that I established and the creation of time, the flow of events that mark the evolutionary process. My objective was to create intelligent beings that would discover the laws I used in creation. Should I lie? Should I predetermine how the universe should evolve in all its detail? I admit that I do interject myself to steer my creation toward my ends. I have to remain vigilant as I intervene because any slight change in the numerical constants in the laws of physics would result in a universe that does not produce the earth or life<sup>iv</sup>.

However, I cannot lie so the universe I created needed to evolve from the big bang. Besides, what's 17.8 billion years to me?<sup>v</sup>

I would like to explain the answer to a question that has troubled mankind. Am I operating within time or beyond time? In other words, do I know everything that will ever happen or can I be surprised? The answer is that I am beyond time but operate in time.

As explained above I have set the universe on its evolutionary path and inject myself at certain points along the way. The universe is not on autopilot. I am involved with my creation and am able to watch all that is going on across the universe simultaneously. I could choose to know all time at once, but that would require predestination and destroy my desire for a real loving independent family. What fun would it be to play a game if you know all the moves and the end result. Instead, I enjoy being part of my creation and make minor adjustments to achieve my desired results without obvious interference. People think that I am beyond time because there is prophecy. It's not that I know what will happen, it is that I can make anything happen. Prophecy is a glimpse of my plan.
