BURNIN' DAYLIGHT

A Fun Wild West Quiz

- Q. Who was the Philadelphia lawyer who went west to Wyoming where he wrote the classic, "The Virginian"? What is the famous "one-liner" in the book that is still used today?
- A. His name was Owen Wister. The classic one-liner, pronounced slow and deliberate is, "When you call me that, smile."
- Q. Who was the most celebrated woman sharpshooter in American history? How long did she play in "Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show"?
- A. Annie Oakley, but her real name was Phoebe Anne Mozee (also used Moses). At age nine, she started rabbit shooting with her brothers on their Ohio farm where she won local competitions. At age 16, she married another sharpshooter, Frank Butler, and they toured the country as "Butler & Oakley", performing with small circuses.

She was age 25 when the "Butler & Oakley" team headlined with the Sells Bros. Circus in New Orleans. It rained for days and they became stuck in the mud. Buffalo Bill's Show was playing New Orleans at the same time. The Butlers convinced William Cody to let them play with his show for free for 3 days to see how the crowd liked them.

The audiences loved them and they stayed with his Buffalo Bill's show for 17 years as paid performers, traveling the world with him. Everyone cheered when they watched "Little Miss Annie Oakley" perform. Frank remained on with Cody, playing a cowboy performer.
