This is a book about fire safety for boys and girls. These are lessons Bailey the Fire Dog taught to boys and girls (and grown-ups) when he worked with his partner, Harry Martin, and all his firefighter friends in Cal Fire and with many other fire departments.

LESSON 1: FIRE IS A TOOL NOT A TOY!

Bailey loved to play! He played ball, tug-of-war, and especially in the water.

He played with his firefighters and boys and girls. But Bailey also loved to work. When he got his fire vest on he knew it was work time, not play time. Bailey knew balls were toys to play with. But the big firefighter's AXE was a TOOL and not to be played with.

Fire is a TOOL not a toy. What are some ways we work with fire? [cooking, warming our house, giving light].
