

The Christian Church has overlooked the possible value of using the astronomy of the Magi as a tool that might lend itself to better understanding the events relating to the end of the current age. The Cipher is the first installment in a Star-Flight trilogy that hopefully represents an opening corrective to this longstanding religious hiatus.

INTRODUCTION

My carrier has been that of a Research Scientist and process trouble-shooter. Over the years, additional interests that I've acquired are the study of church history, Astronomy, and Biblical study from a Hebraic perspective. While these varied interest may at first glance appear somewhat exclusive in their respective areas of coverage, there would occur a point in my journey of discovery where they would all come together- or in astronomy talk make a 'conjunction'. It is this point of convergence that I want to deal with. As a research scientist, I've always enjoyed solving a good mystery! In my journey of discovery, questions have been my friends. The mystery I decided to tackle is: In Search of the Day of the Lord. Since I am a Seventh Day Adventist, I will be developing part of this study from within the context of both Millerite Advent Movement of the 19th century (1839-44) and the subsequent development of the early Adventist Church (1863-) that formed from a fragment of that Movement.

The snippets of information that I will be presenting will hopefully ignite interest to do deeper study of both Scripture and Cosmology. It is my belief that the 19th century Millerite Advent Movement was not a fluke of history. The revival of the 1830's and 1840's was setting the stage for a much greater spiritual drama that is now unfolding as we enter the 21st century.

STAR-FLIGHT

My hope is to see a rebirth of the Millerite spirit within not only my Denomination - but also extending far beyond the confines of denominationalism – a trans-denominational revival that will hopefully culminate its testimony with the Second Advent.

This study grew out of two observations that in turn lead to a question. The observations were: (1) The Christian church has had a 2000-year “zero” batting average in dealing with the general timing of the Second Advent, and (2) The only group that understood the timing of the “advent” in the last 2500 years were the Magi who, following a star, journeyed to Jerusalem in search of The Promise. The question that lead to what is now more than a twenty year study: Is there something that we can learn from the cosmology of the Magi that might help contemporary Christians to better discern the season of Messiah's Second Advent?

I did not intend this investigation to take so long. However in retrospect it could not have been completed sooner than 1997 due to missing data that only presented itself in the last two decades of the 20th century. In the context of the above question, I also wanted to determine if some of the remarkable cosmological events of this period, as seen through the eyes of the Magi, might have import relating to the Second Advent.

Several initial observations helped provide the guideline for developing the investigation.

- We were not to be ignorant of the time for the onset of “that day” (i.e. the Day of the Lord). It was not to be a ‘thief in the night’ experience for God’s people (1 Thes. 5:4, Lk. 21:34-36, 2 Thess. 2:3, 2 Tim. 4:8). The ‘Day’ is both a period of time as well as a specific event within redemptive history.
- God reveals his story using prophetic patterns and pictures which often repeat in remarkable ways (i.e. the First and Second Temple were destroyed on the 9th of Av).

STAR-FLIGHT

- There is nothing new under the sun (Solomon). All shadows of end-time history have been fulfilled within the microcosm of Israel's history.
- Aspects of the life of Messiah will be replayed in the end-time history of the world and his church.
- Cosmological activity mirrors God's redemptive activity. Jesus' Olivet Prophecy states that end-time history is coordinated with signs in the heavens.
- The prophetic numbers (42, 33, 3½, 1260, 2300...) of Hebrew apocalyptic are derived from cosmology.
- Events surrounding first century Jerusalem provide a remarkable paradigm for end-time history of the church. It is the Day of the Lord in miniature. The 7-Seals of Revelation have two applications: (1) the events leading to the Judgment of Jerusalem (AD 70), and (2) those events leading to the judgment of the world (its image) at the end of the Age.

The study has shown that the Zodiac (Mazzaroth), before its pagan corruptions, served two functions. It told the story of The Promise (Gen. 3:15) and also was designed as a chronometer (clock) relating to the development of that story. It was observed that, like conventional timepieces, this cosmic chronometer has ‘hands’ related to the cycles of certain comets.

Regarding the question on the timing, current data has lead to the tentative conclusion that the consummation of all things might occur during the decade of the 2030’s. Keep in mind that my conclusions are based on circumstantial evidence. Only time will determine their value. Let the data of this study rest ‘gently’ on your mind; the data that should be continually re-evaluated as history unfolds. It’s God’s story! It’s God’s ending! After all is said and done, knowing the timing of this event is of little value unless you are on the “right side” of the event. Heed this warning! Noah’s generation knew the time for the end of their world. Christ stated that there would be close correspondence between the last generation and Noah’s time (Ma. 24:37). Despite the signs of the time, only eight humans and all those ‘dumb’ animals would seek the protection of the ark. It is not what you know – but WHOM you know where few men have gone before.*

*(Christ) that prepares you for a life and journey

The Christian Church has overlooked the possible value of using the astronomy of the Magi as a tool that might lend itself to better understanding the events relating to the end of the current age. The Cipher is the first installment in a Star-Flight trilogy that hopefully represents an opening corrective to this longstanding religious hiatus.
